Twelve programs were scheduled to be reviewed during 2010-2011. Six programs completed self study reports which were reviewed by an ad-hoc committee and an external reviewer. These programs include: Plant and Soil Science, Animal Science, Communication Science and Disorders, Spanish, Bachelor of Applied Arts and Science, and Interdisciplinary Studies.

The College of Business Administration submitted self study reports for their Management and Finance programs, but were waived of the external review process due to outside accreditation by the Accreditation Council for Business Schools and Programs. The International Business Management program has been eliminated, so a report was not necessary.

Programs scheduled for review in 2011-2012 which were not reviewed this cycle include: Psychology, Criminology, and Social Work. This request is being made on the basis of these programs having an interim department chair. The department chair will return from sabbatical in Fall 2011 and will be more suited to complete the self-study report at that time.
