

Spring 2024 Student Employee Performance Evaluation

Updated November 2023

Student: _____

Organization: _____

Supervisor (please print): _____

These evaluations are designed to assess learning as it relates to the student’s professional and personal development. Student employee will typically and ideally demonstrate growth (change) on each of these dimensions, which are based on the Career Readiness Competencies recently (2021) revised and updated by the National Association of Colleges and Employers (<https://www.naceweb.org/career-readiness/competencies/career-readiness-defined/>).

Career Readiness is a foundation from which to demonstrate requisite core competencies that broadly prepares the college educated for success in the workplace and lifelong career management. Pages 6 and 7 list example behaviors associated with each competency and may help with rating the intern.

Important note: As a baseline for the competency rating, use your performance expectations for an entry-level position, as this establishes these ratings as aspirational and developmental, so that student employees may grow. It is common for mid-point ratings to be different from final ratings. Please rate accordingly to promote student awareness of his/her/their progress and offer suggestions to strengthen a competency where applicable. Your ratings help track student learning and demonstrate growth throughout the student employment experience.

Please indicate how often the student demonstrates each competency. At a minimum, we encourage you to discuss your ratings and observations at both the midpoint and endpoint of the semester. Continuous feedback is extremely valuable.

Competency 1: Career and Self-Development

Check if not applicable

The student employee proactively develops him/her/their self and his/her/their career through continual personal and professional learning, awareness of one’s strengths and weaknesses, navigation of career opportunities, and networking to build relationships within and without one’s organization.
